NATURDAY, DEC. 15, 1827.

MR. JAMES GILCHRIST WES yesterday re-nominated as Surveyor of the Port joi Wheeling by the President. There is no doubt of his confirmation.

THE Pope, like Senator Morton, holds on to life with unusual tenacity, and gives audiences to visitors and attends to business while all the world is waiting for him to die. According to the latest news

Baptist, and although he does not bapmerse them in the Monongahela, and in such numbers, too, that the Post is moved Custom House in this city, together with the history of the Surveyorship of the Port preceding it. The records on the subject constitute a part of the history of preservable form.

O. S. Lono, of Wheeling, is announced to deliver an entertainment styled "An Evening with the American Poets," consisting of readings, &c., some time next Term, in the Chapel. This is not one of the regular lectures, but something that will, no doubt, be as interesting.—Moreostors, Past. gantown Post. Mr. Long is an accomplished amateu elocationist, and we are sure that he will afford our Morgantown friends an enter tainment worthy of a large audience.

of fown but contemplating moving in, if any such there are, to be informed that Wellburg has at this time no municipal debt, (except possibly one note of $500, paid probably by this time) and that her debt. (except possess) paid probably by this time) and that her running expenses are much smaller than those of the generality of towns, 15 cents tion, sufficing for all purposes. This is tion, sufficing for all purposes. This is to nav interest on on the hundred dollars taxable valuation, sufficing for all purposes. This is less than is required to pay interest on the bonded debt alone of some of our neighbors. Our corporate improvements, streets, alleys, pavements, markets, landings, fire and water arrangements sufficlean for our needs, are, generally speakings, pretty good and all paid for,
besides public school accoundations for fire hundred children at a cost of considerably over $20,000, nearly paid for, and all in fair working order and repair. We have all the railroad facilities, now, that we want, or can use, and repair. We have all the railroad facilities, now, that we want, or can use, and no heavy corporate debt on railroad account as most towns have. We have a vein oi first quality coal, 225 feet under ground, that, it is the general understanding, belongs to whoever will go after it and that has been tested and fully proven by a shaft, not a half mile distant from the Court House. Besides all this, we have pienty of first class building lots that have been selling exceedingly low and oan be had yet very cheap, but which will undoubtedly, advance in price. Take it all around, you might go much further than Welleburg in search of a locality for business purposes or comfortable living and fare just that much worse.

From this week's Southern Churchman.

The Convention of the Diocese of West Virginia, with Bishop Whittle in the chair, met at Charleston, Kanawha county, on Wednesday week, with thirteen of the olergy present. We much regret that the information we wrote for and expected has not been received. We can only give information as was given by one of the clerical delegates. Rev. Messrs. W. H. Meade, R. H. McKim and J. H. Eccleston were nominated. Rev. Mr. Meede, on the first ballet, was elected by the Clergy, but the laity did not concur. The The Rev. Dr. Eccleston was afterwards. The Rev. Bellarie market has about "peter ed out." The attendance is limited to a few persons, living in the immediate neighborhood. Many persons thought there was not the slightest need for a Market House, at the innet this was built. Time has proved them to be right. Other thought ordinances enough could be passed by Council to compel the people to patronize the market. Vextitions and also for the past week have rained by parsons thought ordinances enough could be passed by Council to compel the people to patronize the market. "Alice Oates, at the opening of her engagement at Cincinnati on Monday evering, made a speech to the audience, asking the public to suspend opinion in her case until she could be heard in the courts, where she would at least have shown to her that merey that the newspapers had denied her. That's right. Give Alice a chance. We don't take much stock in that story of Mrs. Laurent anyhow. Mrs. Oates appears to have too much sense to fall in love with such an individual as Henry (Gisling) Laurent."
